

PHOTOS: Smith Center Symphony Park spires arising

Ryan Merritt installs a sculpture outside the Smith Center for the Performing Arts in Las Vegas on Monday. The sculpture is a creation of local artist Tim Bavington. Bavington is completing paintings for the interior of the center, which are to draw inspiration from American composer Aaron Copeland's "Fanfare for the Common Man." The outdoor piece will serve as a backdrop for the center's 1.7-acre Symphony Park.

BY JESSICA EBELHAR

LAS VEGAS REVIEW-JOURNAL

Posted: Feb. 28, 2012