

Current Los Angeles Contemporary Exhibitions Doug Simay's Best Picks

Dimitri Kozyrev at Mark Moore Gallery (Culver City through Oct. 20).

Russian born, UC Santa Barbara trained kozyrev has a very complex way of imaging the real world. Accurately, the gallery's press release states that Kozyrev's work is "at once gestural and structured, organic and geometric, expressed and composed." I like the figuration blended by his abstract way of imaging multiple, simultaneous viewpoints. It is a very Constructivist way of projecting the world. Terrific show. Best of the best.

Source: <http://www.simayspace.com/October2012.html>