

“Mound” by Allison Schulnik

by AMID

October 26, 2011 12:25 pm

Clay animation can be a magical medium when the material is allowed to be itself and not dressed up to look like something else. This is something that animators like Bruce Bickford and David Daniels understood, as does CalArts Experimental grad Allison Schulnik. The pulsating figures in her new short Mound are reminiscent of an earlier Grizzly Bear music video of hers that I posted in 2009, but there’s also some fun new visual concepts, particularly the sequence that begins at the two-minute mark.

CREDITS

Film by Allison Schulnik

Cinematography by Helder K. Sun.

“It’s Raining Today” written by Noel Scott Engel

(Thanks, Jorge Gutierrez)